Report on training Programme on Employability Skills

PG Department of Commerce, in collaboration with Rubicon Skill Development Pvt. Ltd. and CDC, PES Trust, recently conducted a comprehensive three-day training program focused on enhancing employability skills. The program took place from February 1st to February 3rd, 2024, and saw active participation from all M.Com students.

Objectives of the Program:

- Enhancing students' employability by equipping them with essential skills required in the professional world.
- Providing practical insights and training in areas such as communication, teamwork, problem-solving, and critical thinking.
- Bridging the gap between academic knowledge and industry demands to facilitate smoother transitions into the workforce.
- Empowering students with the confidence and competence needed to excel in job interviews and career opportunities.

Day 1: Internship

On February 1st, 2024, Thursday, the first day of the Employability Skills Training Program commenced with Mr. Nandan, the trainer, initiating the session by emphasizing the significance of internship programs. He cleverly employed a water bottle experiment to vividly illustrate the importance of practical experience in enhancing one's skill set and employability. Following this engaging introduction, the participants actively engaged in a group activity focused on honing their interview skills. Through role-playing and scenario-based exercises, students gained valuable insights into effective communication, body language, and response strategies during interviews. Additionally, a self-introduction task allowed individuals to articulate their personal and professional attributes, fostering self-awareness and confidence. Mr. Nandan concluded the day by providing guidelines for delivering impactful presentations, emphasizing the importance of clarity, organization, and audience engagement. Overall, the first day of the training program set a strong foundation for participants to develop essential employability skills essential for their future endeavours.

Day 2: Interview Skills

On the second day of the training program, which took place on Friday, February 2nd, 2024, the focus was primarily on enhancing interview skills among the participating M.Com students. The session commenced with a discussion on the importance of effective introductions during interviews, emphasizing the significance of leaving a lasting first impression on potential employers. Subsequently, participants engaged in group activities aimed at refining their introduction techniques, ensuring clarity, confidence, and professionalism. Furthermore, the session delved into the various qualities and attributes that employers typically seek in candidates, emphasizing the importance of showcasing not only technical qualifications but also soft skills such as adaptability, communication, and problem-solving abilities. Students were encouraged to reflect on their own strengths and experiences, identifying key qualities that set them apart in a competitive job market.

In addition to discussing the qualities of an ideal candidate, the session also addressed common questions asked during job interviews. Participants were provided with insights into the types of questions they may encounter, ranging from inquiries about their academic background and professional experiences to situational and behavioural questions designed to assess their aptitude and fit within the organization. Overall, the second day of the training program proved to be highly informative and engaging, equipping students with valuable insights and practical strategies to excel in future job interviews. The interactive nature of the session fostered collaboration and peer learning, further enhancing the overall learning experience for all participants.

Day 3: Mock Interview technique

On the third day of the Employability Skills training programme, scheduled for February 3rd, 2024, participants will delve into the intricacies of Mock Interview techniques. This session aims to provide a practical understanding of the interview process, enabling individuals to refine their communication, presentation, and interpersonal skills. Through simulated interview scenarios, attendees will have the opportunity to experience real-world interview situations, receiving constructive feedback and guidance from experienced professionals. By engaging in these mock interviews, participants will gain valuable insights into areas of improvement, bolstering their confidence and readiness for actual job interviews. This hands-on approach ensures that attendees are better equipped to navigate the challenges of the job market and stand out as competent and prepared candidates.
